FACT SHEET

- WHAT: MegaFest, one of the largest nondenominational Christian gatherings in the world, is crossing U.S. borders into the continent of Africa. Since its inception in 2004 in Atlanta's Georgia Dome, more than 700,000 people from all over the world have joined together to experience God in a unique way. In addition to the exciting weekend event – October 11 and 12 – *MegaFest International offers additional days and customized packages to give attendees the chance to celebrate the best that South Africa has to offer. The conference features empowering seminars, concerts, local excursions, cultural happenings and enjoyment for the entire family.
- WHO: Internationally-known, best selling author Bishop T. D. Jakes and The Potter's House of Dallas, a more than 30,000-member multicultural nondenominational church, will host this power-packed event with spirit-filled worship experiences from GRAMMY® award-winning artist Israel Houghton, and inspirational seminars from dynamic leaders Bishop Noel Jones, Pastor Paula White, Bishop John Francis and Dr. Mensa Otabil.
- WHERE: Expo Centre (Nasrec) Johannesburg, South Africa
- WHEN: October 11 and 12 with customized packages offered between Monday, October 6 through Monday, October 20
- WHY: Bishop Jakes and The Potter's House have a strong desire to help the people of Africa. That dedication has brought wells, food, educational assistance and medical resources to the continent. In 2008, The Potter's House plans to expand its philanthropic outreach efforts by building places of refuge for children who have lost their parents to HIV/AIDS. In addition, the ministry has partnered with governmental and faith-based organizations in South Africa and Swaziland to provide comprehensive medical services and information to the general public from October 11 through 12 in South Africa during MegaFest and October 14 through 18 in Swaziland during the revival. The Potter's House is inviting the world to join in and help change lives.
- COST: Full experiential packages start at $4,998 USD
